

INTRO TO STORYTELLING & COMMUNICATION

Knowing our story and telling it can be extremely difficult. We can feel confused, conflicted about what to share, what to feel, and how to frame all of it. This is true whatever that story is, whether it is the story of our own life, the story of our brand or company, or the story of our campaign when talking to politicians. Whoever our audience is, it is important to own and be comfortable with our story.

Intro to Storytelling

This is where I come in. The Intro to Storytelling workshop is a two hour session that was developed to introduce "Create, Define, Clarify, Communicate". It provides a fun, snappy, and sometimes tear jerking way, of planting the seeds of Storytelling in everything you or your organisation does. When attending, get ready to think, feel, laugh, and be surprised at how Storytelling can be used for change.

Logistics

Pricing: Primary consultation is always free of charge, with the subsequent workshop priced at a base level of £350 for a group of up to 10 people. Included are a primary consultation, pre-workshop meeting, & after workshop debrief. This also includes an availability for participant questions via email and participant surveys. Discounts maybe available for charities and NGO's. Out of city travel and associated costs are not included, hence an in person workshop could involve additional costs.

Workshop: The session is two hours long, in-person or online and is interactive, fun & involves theatrical exercises. The session will have a dedicated Q & A section, and can be made bespoke according to the client wishes and expectations.

About Me

Trained as a coach by Storytelling Centre Amsterdam with experience using Storytelling as a method for change in the Ecological, Conflict Resolution, and Activist fields.
